1.1 Introduction

1.1.1 Rationale

The arts are an intellectually engaging intersection of lateral thought and practice. They interrogate the human experience and challenge our understandings by encouraging and provoking alternative ways of seeing, thinking and doing. They enable us to know and observe our world collectively and as individuals. They reveal a sense of who we are and might become as we make connections and new meaning of the world around us and our place in it.

Creative and expressive communication is central to the arts. Students learn to pose and solve problems, work independently and in collaboration, and create and convey meaning from various viewpoints. New skills are learnt and knowledge is created through the investigation and experience of valued traditions and practices across various art forms.

The arts encourage unity through active involvement in building cultural literacy by respecting and valuing the meaningful and unique impact of Aboriginal people's and Torres Strait Islander people's contribution to Australia's arts knowledge, traditions and experience. Australia's multicultural identity, cultural inheritance and contemporary arts practice is enhanced through this recognition and the shared inspirations of the broader Asia—Pacific community.

Visual Art students have opportunities to construct knowledge and communicate personal interpretations by working as both artist and audience. In making artworks, students use their imagination and creativity to innovatively solve problems and experiment with visual language and expression. Students develop knowledge and skills when they create individualised responses and meaning by applying diverse materials, techniques, technologies and art processes. On their individual journey of exploration, students learn to communicate personal thoughts, feelings, ideas, experiences and observations. In responding to artworks, students investigate artistic expression and critically analyse artworks in diverse contexts. They consider meaning, purposes and theoretical approaches when ascribing aesthetic value and challenging ideas. Students interact with artists, artworks, institutions and communities to enrich their experiences and understandings of their own and others' art practices.

Visual Art uses an inquiry learning model, developing critical and creative thinking skills and individual responses through developing, researching, reflecting and resolving. Through making and responding, resolution and display of artworks, students understand and appreciate the role of visual art in past and present traditions and cultures, as well as the contributions of contemporary visual artists and their aesthetic, historical and cultural influences.

This subject prepares young people for participation in the 21st century by fostering curiosity and imagination, and teaching students how to generate and apply new and creative solutions when problem-solving in a range of contexts. This learnt ability to think in divergent ways and produce creative and expressive responses enables future artists, designers and craftspeople to innovate and collaborate with the fields of science, technology, engineering and mathematics to design and manufacture images and objects that enhance and contribute significantly to our daily lives.¹

Visual Art prepares students to engage in a multimodal, media-saturated world that is reliant on visual communication. Through the critical thinking and literacy skills essential to both artist and audience, learning in Visual Art empowers young people to be discriminating, and to engage with and make sense of what they see and experience. Visual Art equips students for a future of unimagined possibilities as they develop highly transferable communication skills and the capacity for global thinking. Visual Art encourages students to reflect on and appreciate multiple perspectives and philosophies, and to confidently and creatively contribute and engage in all facets of society to sustain our diverse Australian culture.

Assumed knowledge, prior learning or experience

The key ideas of making and responding identified in the P–10 Australian Curriculum: The Arts continue in senior syllabuses throughout The Arts learning area. Prior experience in any or all of The Arts subjects will provide students with an understanding of making and responding as learning and assessment in Visual Art.

Through making, students 'learn about and use knowledge, skills, techniques, processes, materials and technologies to explore arts practices and make artworks that communicate ideas and intentions' (Australian Curriculum 2017). Making is working in the art form as artist. Through responding, students 'explore, respond to, analyse and interpret artworks' (Australian Curriculum 2017). Responding is working about the art form as audience.

Pathways

Visual Art is a General subject suited to students who are interested in pathways beyond school that lead to tertiary studies, vocational education or work. A course of study in Visual Art can establish a basis for further education and employment in the fields of arts practice, design, craft, and information technologies; broader areas in creative industries and cultural institutions; and diverse fields that use skills inherent in the subject.

The processes and practices of Visual Art, such as self-directed learning and creative problemsolving, develop transferable 21st century skills that are highly valued in many areas of employment. Organisations increasingly seek employees who demonstrate work-related creativity, innovative thinking and diversity.

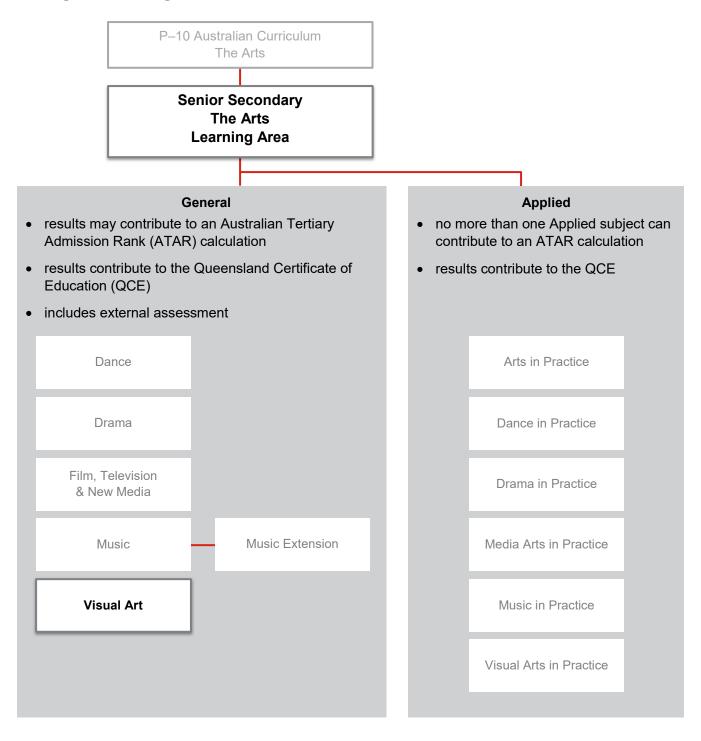

Tertiary studies, vocational education or work experience in the area of visual arts can lead to and benefit careers in diverse fields such as:

- advertising, e.g. art director, brand specialist, content marketer, photographer, graphic artist
- arts administration and management, e.g. art project manager, agent, events and festivals manager
- communication, e.g. writer, communication strategist, journalist, sign writer, art editor, blogger/vlogger, web content producer
- creative industries, e.g. visual artist, illustrator, photographer, screenwriter
- design, e.g. architect, fashion designer, environmental designer, fashion marketer, graphic designer, industrial designer, interior designer, stage designer, textiles designer
- education, e.g. specialist classroom teacher, lecturer, private teacher
- galleries and museums, e.g. curator, registrar, exhibition designer, director, public programs officer, conservator
- film and television, e.g. animator, storyboard artist, post-production specialist, art director, production buyer, concept artist, costume designer, camera operator, Foley editor, producer
- public relations, e.g. campaign manager, publicist, creative director
- science and technology, e.g. visual translator, medical illustrator, computer game developer/programmer, digital communication specialist, digital content producer, multimedia designer, web designer, computer graphics modeller, forensic photographer.

1.1.2 Learning area structure

All learning areas build on the P–10 Australian Curriculum.

1.1.3 Course structure

Visual Art is a course of study consisting of four units. Subject matter, learning experiences and assessment increase in complexity from Units 1 and 2 to Units 3 and 4 as students develop greater independence as learners.

Units 1 and 2 provide foundational learning, which allows students to experience all syllabus objectives and begin engaging with the course subject matter. Students should complete Units 1 and 2 before beginning Unit 3. It is recommended that Unit 3 be completed before Unit 4.

Units 3 and 4 consolidate student learning. Only the results from Units 3 and 4 will contribute to ATAR calculations.

Each unit has been developed with a notional time of 55 hours of teaching and learning, including assessment.

Visual Art

Unit 1 Art as lens

Through inquiry learning, the following are explored:

- Concept: lenses to explore the material world
- Contexts: personal and contemporary
- Focus: People, place, objects
- Media: 2D, 3D, and time-based

Assessment

Formative internal assessment/s

Unit 2 Art as code

Through inquiry learning, the following are explored:

- Concept: art as a coded visual language
- Contexts: formal and cultural
- Focus: Codes, symbols, signs and art conventions
- Media: 2D, 3D, and time-based

Assessment

Formative internal assessment/s

Students should have opportunities in Units 1 and 2 to experience and respond to the types of assessment they will encounter in Units 3 and 4.

For reporting purposes, schools should develop at least one assessment per unit, with a maximum of four assessments across Units 1 and 2.

Unit 3 Art as knowledge

Through inquiry learning, the following are explored:

- Concept: constructing knowledge as artist and audience
- Contexts: contemporary, personal, cultural and/or formal
- Focus: studentdirected
- Media: studentdirected

Assessment

Summative internal assessment 1:
Investigation — inquiry phase 1 (15%)
Summative internal assessment 2:
Project — inquiry phase 2 (25%)

Unit 4 Art as alternate

Through inquiry learning, the following are explored:

- Concept: evolving alternate representations and meaning
- Contexts: contemporary and personal, cultural and/or formal
- Focus: continued exploration of Unit 3 student-directed focus
- Media: studentdirected

Assessment

Summative internal assessment 3: Project — inquiry phase 3 (35%)

Summative external assessment: Examination (25%)

Additional Requirements

Study Requirements	Special Requirements
This is a General subject and as such requires a significant commitment of time and energy to complete the course successfully. This includes:	Students must have access to the internet at home or at a local library. Students must also be able to borrow texts from the school library at all times.
 Three lessons per week face to face teaching. Individual/practise /tutorial sessions 1-2 hours per week. 	As part of this course students may be required to respond to an experience such as an excursion or a camp.
Students will be required to complete and finish art projects often outside of school hours.	Due to the large amount of technologically based assessment and classwork it is recommended that students are participants in the College's BYOx program.
